

Privacy Policy for Repudiation SA

Effective Date: 11 June 2024

Welcome to Repudiation SA.

We respect your privacy and are committed to protecting your personal data. This privacy policy will inform you as to how we look after your personal data when you visit our website (regardless of where you visit from) and tell you about your privacy rights and how the law protects you.

We collect personal information that you provide directly to us. This may include:

- Contact details (such as your name, address, email address, and telephone number)
- Professional details (such as your company name, job title, and industry sector)
- Any other information and documentation you choose to provide when you engage our services

We use the information we collect for several purposes, including:

- To provide and maintain our services
- To provide customer support
- To gather analysis or valuable information so that we can improve our services
- To keep you informed regarding any changes to our services and other communications that we believe may be of interest to you

We may share your personal data with:

- Our affiliates and partners, including service providers who perform services on our behalf
- Professional advisors like lawyers, bankers, auditors, and insurers
- Law enforcement or other government authorities, if legally obligated to do so

We have implemented appropriate security measures designed to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used, or accessed in an unauthorized way, altered, or disclosed. However, no internet-based site can be 100% secure and we cannot be held responsible for unauthorized or unintended access that is beyond our control.

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements. You have rights under data protection laws in relation to your personal data, including the right to request access, correction, erasure, restriction, transfer, to object to processing, to portability of data, and (where the lawful ground of processing is consent) to withdraw consent.

We may communicate with you via e-mail. E-mail communication is not secure and can be subject to possible delay, data corruption, interception, amendment, or loss. You are deemed to accept these risks if you communicate with us by e-mail and we shall not be responsible for the unauthorized interception, redirection, copying or reading of e-mails including any attachments.

We shall not be responsible for the effect on any computer system of any e-mails, attachments or viruses which may be transmitted by this means. As e-mail is an informal method of communication, it will normally be inappropriate to rely on advice contained in an e-mail without obtaining written confirmation of it.

However, if we receive a request from you via e-mail, we will treat that as authority to reply by e-mail. We may monitor all e-mails sent to or from us for compliance with our internal policies and to protect our business. Anything sent by e-mail which does not relate to the official business of Repudiation SA is neither given nor endorsed by us. The terms of this engagement will continue in force beyond the termination or expiry of our engagement.

We may update our privacy policy from time to time and will notify in the event of any changes being made. Changes to this privacy policy are effective when they are posted on this page.
